- Thrive to Drive is low on numbers, there are 480 students currently involved. They are looking into a program called Lightly to capture fraudulent students. The parking ticket cost will move up to $40 instead of $25. The grand opening will be during Spring semester. Mary Gallagher will be coming back to oversee financial aid. The student center fee usage money has not been sent over yet but a majority of the money will be used for renovations for the Student Activities Center. Any issues with the staff/student profiles have been corrected.
- Mentor Isbell:
  - Next Friday be on campus and ready to leave by 7:30am. He told everyone to download the Whova app and complete the waiver. He reminded everyone that the conference is business casual or better, no jeans are allowed. He told everyone to bring the ASB polos or longsleeve shirts. Everyone is required to attend sessions, as well as the general sessions. He reminded everyone to pack any toiletries you may need. Dinner places will be decided based on allergies, so make any and all of them known. He stated that finals are two weeks away. Resolutions will be due in January, and the council will be voting on 5. He reminded everyone of his three challenges: daily affirmations, genuinely appreciate someone else, and own appreciation when it's directed to you. He told everyone to focus on the things you are grateful for since it helps anxiety. When you are asked a question, especially in reference to the college, make sure the information is accurate. If you aren't sure, ask Advisor Sewell, himself, or Angela Perdomo. He wished everyone a great day tomorrow.
